

A Reminder: for your CT planning scan & subsequent treatment to your rectal or anal cancer

Radiotherapy information for Torbay Hospital patients

A Reminder: for your CT planning scan & subsequent treatment to your rectal or anal cancer

Radiotherapy information for Torbay Hospital patients

Our aim is to plan and deliver your treatment with your bladder full.
To this end, it is important that:

You empty your bladder about one hour prior to your scan and then drink approx 350mls ($\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ of a pint) of water.

Do not worry if you are unable to comply with this – just let the radiographer know.

If you happen to have a catheter in place, please tell the radiographer as soon as you arrive for your scan so that we can attach a clamp to the tube thereby allowing your bladder to fill whilst you wait for your scan.

Please call 01803 655363 if you require advice regarding the above.

The same instructions will apply when you attend for treatment.

Our aim is to plan and deliver your treatment with your bladder full.
To this end, it is important that:

You empty your bladder about one hour prior to your scan and then drink approx 350mls ($\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ of a pint) of water.

Do not worry if you are unable to comply with this – just let the radiographer know.

If you happen to have a catheter in place, please tell the radiographer as soon as you arrive for your scan so that we can attach a clamp to the tube thereby allowing your bladder to fill whilst you wait for your scan.

Please call 01803 655363 if you require advice regarding the above.

The same instructions will apply when you attend for treatment.
