An equality impact assessment (EIA) is a process designed to ensure that a policy, project or scheme does not discriminate or disadvantage people. EIAs also improve and promote equality. Consider the nature and extent of the impact, not the number of people affected.

¹ Consider any additional needs of carers/ parents/ advocates etc, in addition to the service user

² Travelers may not be registered with a GP - consider how they may access/ be aware of services available to them

³ Consider any provisions for those with no fixed abode, particularly relating to impact on discharge

⁴ Consider how someone will be aware of (or access) a service if socially or geographically isolated

⁵ Language must be relevant and appropriate, for example referring to partners, not husbands or wives

⁶ Consider both physical access to services and how information/ communication is available in an accessible format

⁷ Example: a telephone-based service may discriminate against people who are d/Deaf. Whilst someone may be able to act on their behalf, this does not promote independence or autonomy

1. Purpose

- 1.1 The aim of this policy is to ensure an on-going cycle of performance review, planning, development and evaluation, linked to organisational, service and individual development needs and the achievement of key work objectives.

2. Scope

- 2.1 The policy applies to all substantive employees of Torbay and South Devon NHS Foundation Trust (hereafter referred to as the Trust) with the exception of medical and dental staff for which separate provisions apply.

3. Equality and Diversity Statement

- 3.1 The Trust is committed to preventing discrimination, valuing diversity and achieving equality of opportunity. No person (staff, patient or public) will receive less favourable treatment on the grounds of the nine protected characteristics (as governed by the Equality Act 2010): sexual orientation; gender; age; gender re-assignment; pregnancy and maternity; disability; religion or belief; race; marriage and civil partnership. In addition to these nine, the Trusts will not discriminate on the grounds of domestic circumstances, social-economic status, political affiliation or trade union membership.
- 3.2 The Trust is committed to ensuring all services, policies, projects and strategies undergo equality analysis. For more information about equality analysis and Equality Impact Assessments please refer to the Equality Analysis Procedure.

4. Introduction

- 4.1 The Achievement Review process is an ongoing cycle of review, planning, development and evaluation, linked to organisational, service and individual development needs, individual performance, and the achievement of key work objectives. The term 'Achievement Review' (AR) will be used to describe such structured meetings.
- 4.2 The main purpose of the Achievement Review is to:
- Review the performance of a member of staff against agreed SMART objectives (Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Realistic, Timely)
 - Set objectives to help the member of staff work to their full potential
 - Set objectives as required in respect of any relevant competency framework
 - Review the behaviour of a member of staff against the organisation's values and behaviours
 - Agree a development plan to meet individual and organisational development needs
 - Determine, where applicable, whether the criteria for incremental progression has been met

5. Roles and Responsibilities

5.1 Reviewee

- 5.1.1 It is the responsibility of the individual member of staff (the reviewee) to engage fully with the Achievement Review process and to attend their AR meeting at the time and date agreed with their manager or supervisor (the reviewer).
- 5.1.2 It is the reviewee's responsibility to attend any training, learning and development (hereafter referred to as development) events, including mandatory training, as agreed in their Personal Development Plan or induction review and to reflect on any development to ensure that they apply the knowledge and skills they have gained.

5.2 Reviewer

- 5.2.1 The reviewer will normally be the reviewee's line manager. Exceptionally, this role can be delegated to a substitute manager or an appropriate alternative such as the reviewee's supervisor or a professional adviser.
- 5.2.2 It is the reviewer's responsibility to schedule the AR meeting with the reviewee providing sufficient notice for preparation and to ensure that all relevant forms are completed, signed-off and followed-up as appropriate.
- 5.2.3. The reviewer must be appropriately trained/or experienced in leading development review meetings and have sufficient authority to be able to approve development opportunities for the individual.

6. When Achievement Reviews are undertaken

6.1 Induction Review

- 6.1.1 The AR process begins during the induction period for new employees. The aim of this discussion is to assist a new member of staff to make a success of their new job. A personal development plan (PDP) should be developed during the first two months of employment to set some initial work objectives and identify any early development activities and as a check to ensure that all mandatory training has been completed.

6.2 Annual Achievement Review

- 6.2.1 The annual AR is when all the discussions that have taken place throughout the year are brought together and jointly reflected on and documented in a structured way (using Appendix 1). Any issues identified in the reviewee's work, performance or development during the year should have been addressed at the time they arose, they should not be left until the annual AR meeting. The guiding principle of the AR process is 'no surprises'.

7. Preparation

- 7.1 Preparation is essential to a positive outcome of an AR. Both the reviewer and the reviewee should adequately prepare prior to the meeting by reading the guidance in the AR form (appendix 1) and familiarising themselves with the paperwork and undertaking the pre-requisite actions and thinking.

8. Growth Plan

- 8.1 During the AR meeting, a Growth Plan (in appendix 1) for the forthcoming year will be developed and agreed by the reviewee and their reviewer.
- 8.2 Development is not just about attending training courses. Development may also consist of on-the-job training, opportunities to participate in particular projects or work areas, distance learning, private study, short secondments, work shadowing, peer review and other continuous professional development activities.
- 8.3 A Growth Plan identifies and prioritises learning and development needs and how these will be addressed to assist:
- i) Achieving agreed work priorities/ key result areas.
 - ii) Meeting levels of behaviour in accordance with organisational values and behaviours.
 - iii) Meeting levels of required performance for the role
 - iv) Meeting the required level of competency.
 - v) Progressing any personal career / role / work aspirations.
- 8.4 The reviewee is responsible for monitoring their PDP throughout the year and for bringing any issues to the attention of their reviewer/line manager. They may choose, where appropriate, to commit personal time and resources, especially in those areas relating to longer term career development.

9. Achievement Reviews and Competency Frameworks

- 9.1 Where a competency framework, e.g. a professional competency framework, is actively being applied in respect of the reviewee's post, it should be used to lead discussions on how the reviewee is applying their knowledge and skills to meet the demands of their post and to identify future development needs informed by the achievement of objectives.
- 9.2 Where there is no competency framework being applied discussions may focus of the job description and job specification to provide the context to the role. This will involve focussing on a review of performance over the review period against any previously agreed objectives/ or key result areas.

10. Achievement Reviews and Supporting Processes

- 10.1 The AR process may be supported and complemented by the use of 360-degree feedback, Health and Safety questionnaire and Wellbeing questionnaire on ICON or assessments of team performance, e.g. looking at the quality of the service provided by the team or the effectiveness of team communications. However, these will only be used to support and feed in to the individual AR process and never to replace an individual AR.

11. Annual Employment Declaration

- 11.1 The Trust must comply with NHS employment checks standards and Trust policies to monitor any changes to an individual's circumstances that may impact on their employment or be a safeguarding issue. To satisfy this requirement each employee should complete annually with their line manager the annual employment declaration of interests form (on ICON) at the same time as they have their Achievement Review Meeting.
- 11.2 Once completed, the line manager should email Workforce Information at wit.tsdf@nhs.net confirming the name of the individual and that they have completed the AR and the Annual Employment Declaration of Interest Form, and the date you completed them.

12. Achievement reviews and incremental progression

12.1 Background

- 12.1.1 These provisions reflect Annexe 23 of the Agenda for Change Terms and Conditions Handbook and have been subject to consultation with the Trust staff representatives. They apply to all staff with the exception of Medical and Dental staff that have separate arrangements.
- 12.1.2 With effect from 1st April 2021 incremental pay progression for all pay points became conditional upon individuals demonstrating that they had the required level of knowledge and skills/competencies for their role and that they have demonstrated an acceptable level of performance and delivery.

12.2 Principles

- 12.2.1 The assessment for incremental pay progression is part of the AR policy and processes. Therefore, in order to gain incremental credit an employee must have an annual AR.
- 12.2.2 To ensure fair and consistent application of the AR policy with specific regard to incremental progression, assessment will be based on broad organisation objectives that will be applied to all staff covered by the policy. This will not preclude managers from setting other local objectives but failure to attain local objectives may not be used as a basis for any decision to defer incremental progression.
- 12.2.3 All staff demonstrating the required knowledge and skills, and applying acceptable levels of performance and delivery consistently during the period covered by the annual AR will benefit from incremental pay progression.
- 12.2.4 Individual performance should be monitored throughout the year so that under performance is identified and addressed appropriately at that point. Managers should be mindful of factors outside the individuals control when assessing overall performance.
- 12.2.5 Progression into the annually earned pay points, the last two pay points in pay bands 8c, 8d and 9, will be available to all members of staff in these bands subject to the same criteria set out in these provisions. Pay protection shall not apply should assessment result in the removal of a pay point.

12.2.6 Individual staff will have the right to seek a review of any decision where the required level of performance is deemed not to be met.

12.2.7 For ease of administration Payroll Department will continue to allow staff to progress to the next increment automatically unless they are advised that a deferral is required. Therefore, managers are responsible for undertaking AR's and submitting the appropriate form on ICON, indicating whether they wish to approve or defer an increment.

13. Criteria and Organisation Objectives

13.1 The Trust is committed to building a workforce which is valued and whose diversity reflects the community it serves, enabling it to deliver the best possible healthcare services to its service users. The organisation is also committed to ensuring that every employee is able to achieve their full potential, through the implementation and operation of a fair, open and objective AR process. To this end all employees must have an annual AR through which they can demonstrate they have achieved the standards required by the Trust.

- Employee's mandatory training is 100% up to date;
- Employee does not have a live disciplinary sanction (first or final written warning);
- Employee has satisfactorily achieved their objectives/priorities from their previous Achievement Review; and
- They are not subject to a formal stage of the Improving Performance Policy.

13.2 Grounds for deferral of incremental pay progression

13.2.1 Incremental pay progression may only be deferred where significant issues of performance and/or conduct have been identified, discussed and documented with the individual concerned and, despite opportunities for appropriate support, training development have not been resolved. Consequently, operational managers may only apply the following criteria to defer an increment;

- AR – the employee has not completed their annual AR.
* If an employee has not completed AR due to management failure to make the necessary arrangements this may not be used as grounds for deferral.
- Performance – the employee has not satisfactorily achieved their objectives/priorities from their previous Achievement Review. They are subject to a formal stage of the Improving Performance Policy
- Behaviour – the employee has a live disciplinary sanction (first or final written warning)

- Training – the employee has not completed essential mandatory training. Where management fail to ensure a member of staff is able to attend for mandatory training this criterion may not be used as grounds for deferral.

13.2.2 In determining whether the increment should be deferred for reasons associated with poor performance or conduct, this can only be demonstrated by the fact that management have had to take formal action under Trust Improving Performance, and/or Disciplinary procedures during the review period to address the problem and formal (written) warnings issued during this period remain on file. If management have taken no action there are no grounds for deferral. In addition, the fact that an employee has a written warning on file may not be used as automatic grounds for deferring an increment. Managers are obliged to consider each case on individual merit.

13.2.3 In order to action a pay deferral the manager must complete the “Application to Defer Pay Increment” form (appendix 2) and the electronic Annual Achievement Review & Declaration Form found on ICON and send to Payroll: payroll.sdhct@nhs.net

For information on dealing with performance and conduct issues please see existing Trust policies and procedures on ICON.

13.3 Review

13.3.1 An employee who is subject to deferral of incremental pay progression by their line manager and disagrees with that decision may seek a review by the next in line senior manager. The employee may request that the case is reviewed by a senior manager from an alternative ISU if they prefer by completing the Deferral of Increment (Application for Review) form (appendix 3).

13.3.2 If the individual’s case is upheld, payroll will be informed and pay will be backdated to the point at which incremental pay progression should have occurred. The manager must complete the “Application to Re-instate Deferred Pay Increment” form (appendix 4).

13.3.3 The decision of the senior manager reviewing the matter is final and no further opportunities for review may be requested

13.4 Review Procedures

13.4.1 All managers and members of staff are responsible for ensuring that the organisation’s Equality and Diversity Policy (ED1) is adhered to and accordingly that this policy is applied fairly to all staff.

13.4.2 Employers and staff representatives, acting in partnership, will monitor decisions on incremental pay progression to ensure that there is no discrimination or bias in relation to the above.

13.4.3 To ensure this is fully complied with a monitoring panel, consisting of a People Hub representative and Trade Union representative, will meet annually to review all decisions regarding pay deferrals.

13.4.4 The organisation will monitor that development reviews are being undertaken annually and pay progression is operated in a non-discriminatory manner.

14. Training and Awareness

- 14.1 Advice and support will be provided by the People Hub team to support staff and managers in adhering to this policy and their understanding of dealing with AR's.
- 14.2 The People Hub team will raise awareness of this policy through the publication of information on ICON and to advise staff to changes to the policy through the staff bulletin and ratification process.

22. Appendix 5 - Management guidance for achievement reviews

Employee (reviewee) Supervisor/manager (reviewer)

In these yearly meetings, you'll have the opportunity to sit down with your employee (reviewee) to discuss a range of things and plan for their future. Their overall performance will be discussed, as well as:

- Objectives for the past 12 months will be reviewed
- Key performance priorities for the next 12 months will be agreed
- A development plan to meet individual and organisational development needs will be agreed
- Goals and work aspirations
- Training and Development
- Wellbeing

Tips for reviewers

- Show respect for the process by being prepared with data, notes and records from previous reviews. Use this to measure progress and guide discussion. Employees are much more likely to accept praise or criticism when it's based on objective fact, rather than just their line manager's opinion.
- Keep the discussions relevant and focused
- Ask open-ended, probing questions
- Listen and have a two-way discussion
- Give objective, constructive, non-judgemental feedback

Key things to cover during the conversation

Review performance against agreed targets and objectives - if set objectives haven't been achieved, what is the reason for this and has anything been achieved in place of this?

Offer feedback and encouragement to your reviewee – 360 feedback (gathering feedback from the rest of the team and wider Trust) can also help.

Agree goals and priorities with your reviewee and record these. They must be understood and agreed by both parties if they are to be acted upon.

Have a think...

'As a manager, is there anything I could do more or less of to support my employee?'

'How can I help them to be more successful?'

'If my employee is content with their role and not seeking great changes, what I can do to support this?'

- Ensure that the reviewee really understands the importance of their contribution in reaching the overall targets/goals of the organisation.
- Ensure that the reviewee understands what is expected from them and identify what training and support will be needed for the employee to meet these expectations. Are they reasonable expectations?
- Try to align the objectives and priorities of the reviewee to those of the organisation

Achievement reviews allow you to spend more time and attention in finding out more about your employee and allowing them to reflect more on their experience and progress. It is:

- An important time to appreciate their experiences/ achievements and refresh your relationship with them.
- An opportunity for them to reconnect with the way that their role fits in the organisation and for them to contribute to the organisations thinking.
- The time to agree objectives or priorities which will contribute to your conversations throughout the year.

Achievement Reviews may happen once a year, but the conversation should continue throughout the year. Make sure that what you agree does not get lost! Make sure that you build time into supervision or 1 to 1s to review progress, check support and if necessary review priorities.

Conversations are the key to us all feeling engaged and supported in our jobs. Use every opportunity informal, impromptu, planned, structured to connect with your people, to help them feel connected to the thinking and to feel supported in the tasks that are expected of them.

Values

You'll notice that the values section is no longer on the Achievement Review form. Instead, whilst completing it, have a think about how the reviewee actively demonstrates our Trust values in their work and if there are areas for improvement:

Respect and dignity

Effective Behaviours

- Treat others the way they would like to be treated themselves
- Maintain privacy and ensure confidential information is kept safe

Ineffective Behaviours

- Fails to ensure the privacy and confidentiality of information
- Shows little respect for others

Commitment to quality of care

Effective Behaviours

- Act with professional integrity at all times
- Take personal responsibility and am accountable for my actions

23. Appendix 6 -Employee guidance for achievement reviews

In these yearly meetings, you'll have the opportunity to sit down with your manager (reviewer) to discuss a range of things and plan for your future.

Employee (reviewee) Supervisor/manager (reviewer).

Your overall performance will be discussed, as well as:

- Objectives for the past 12 months will be reviewed
- Key performance priorities for the next 12 months will be agreed
- A development plan to meet individual and organisational development needs will be agreed
- Goals and work aspirations will be discussed
- Training and Development
- Wellbeing

Tips for reviewees

- Achievement reviews are YOURS to own!
- Be prepared with data, notes and records from previous reviews. Use this to feel confident and help back up what you are discussing.
- Remind yourself of accomplishments that may have slipped your mind – ask colleagues, go back through your calendar and scroll through your old emails.
- Complete the form at least a week before your review and send it to your manager so they have time to read it before your meeting.
- Don't be afraid to ask questions and share your goals – if you want a promotion, more experience or need some training, now is the time to say it!
- Don't assume that your manager remembers your job description or your priorities, bring these with you to support you.
- Ask for feedback on yourself if you aren't getting it. If you want to know what your manager's priorities are for the next year, it is OK to ask.
- Give yourself some quiet time beforehand to prepare, in case you are feeling a bit nervous about the discussion. Section 1 of the form must be completed before the meeting so make sure you have given yourself time to do this.

Key things that will be covered during the conversation

Your performance will be reviewed against agreed targets and objectives. If set objectives haven't been achieved, you'll be asked what the reason for this is and if anything has been achieved in place of this.

You should receive constructive feedback and encouragement from the reviewer. You will need to agree future goals and priorities, which will be recorded. They must be understood and agreed by both parties if they are to be acted upon.

Have a think...

'Is there anything I could do more or less of to support my objectives, priorities, goals and wider team?'

'How can my manager help me to be more successful or continue working with the Trust?'

'If I'm content in my current role and not seeking great changes, what can I suggest that my manager does to support this?'

Values

You'll notice that the values section is no longer on the form. Instead, have a think about how you active demonstrate our Trust values and what you could perhaps improve on:
