The names of some members of staff have been withheld under section 40(2) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000, as they constitute the personal data of third parties. These individuals do not hold sufficiently senior or public-facing roles for there to be a reasonable expectation that their names would be disclosed into the public domain. In the circumstances, disclosure would be unfair and would contravene the data protection principles set out in the UK General Data Protection Regulation and the Data Protection Act 2018. Section 40(2) is an absolute exemption and is therefore not subject to the public interest test.
